

I just returned from closing down my National Bicycle Month activities in Montreal, Canada. I pedaled both the Tour la Nuit, a colorful parade of 17,000 cyclists pedaling 20 kilometers (about 12.5 miles) through the city. The route is set against a backdrop of Montreal's ambient city lights, a colorful sunset, and the Saint Lawrence River.